

SUBJECT	PREDICATE	COMPLEMENTARY OBJECT / EXPLANATORY STATEMENT
----------------	------------------	---

VERBAL SENTENCE : (The Subject acts or does something or is active)

She She will/can/may/must had better would rather has She She She She	employs employ employed is is is	many people many people many people to employ many people employing many people employed by ...
--	--	---

NOMINAL SENTENCE: (The Subject doesn't have any activity or is inactive)

She She She will/can/may/must had better would rather She will/can/may/must had better would rather She She has has	is/becomes is/feels be/become be/feel been /become been /felt	a boss of many people happy a boss of many people happy a boss of many people happy
---	--	--

Others Simply Teach Language, We Do Communication